SUPPLEMENT [REDACTED]

ORIGIN
25X1A9a [REDACTED]

1. At the last meeting of the Aktions Gruppe, Heidelberg, Dr. Friedensburg made a speech which greatly impressed the group. The main topic was German unity and independent German initiative to achieve it.
2. Friedensburg invited Geiler, Alfred Weber, and others in the group to come to Berlin in order to discuss the question further and to formulate a definite policy. It is said Nadolny would come in on the discussion.
3. Weber and Geiler see a great opportunity to solve the East-West split by a concerted German effort to formulate a petition to the Allies for a Central German Government.
4. In connection with this effort, more and more German politicians are joining the Heidelberg Aktions Gruppe, such as the Menzel Group in Munich.
5. Dr. Ehard, Ludemann, Sternberger, Schmidt, and Werner appear to be unconscious of the fact that the group would thereby become a tool of the Russians through Friedensburg.

25X1A9a [REDACTED] Comment: A reliable German observer is of the opinion that, if warned, these men would not believe it. Source considers the Heidelberg Group aim is a simple-minded attempt to repeat 1848.)
